From “Face to Face” to “Heart to Heart”

By the time you read this, it will have been over three weeks since we’ve been able to meet together. Even the most introverted among us have struggled with this separation because there is a longing within us for human connection and community. Personally, I’ve found this disconnection very difficult. The joy of being in ministry comes from the joy of being with you!

As I’ve been processing what living in isolation means for us, the words of Paul to the Thessalonians came to mind. He said, “But when we were separated from you, brothers and sisters, for a short time—in person, not in heart—we longed with great eagerness to see you face to face” (2:17). I found great comfort in these words because it reminded me that even though we cannot be together face to face, we can be together heart to heart.

I’ve been inspired by the ways our community is facing the pandemic together, heart to heart. When I led my first Facebook Live Bible study, I was hoping people would pose some questions. Honestly, I was counting on this to help fill the time. Instead, people used the chat to connect with one another and pray for one another, and I was moved by such interaction. While we worship online, I see the chat abuzz with people welcoming and checking in on each other. It’s amazing how people are caring for one another.

Speaking of care, we have an incredible group of volunteers who are “Caring Callers” and are reaching out to the most isolated to make sure they’re doing okay. I could give many more examples, but these are just a few of the ways we are joined together heart to heart.

The great irony is that our most profound act of being together, heart to heart, is to not meet face to face. Given that our personal actions now have outsized consequences for others, when we set aside our desires to meet in person out of concern for the well-being of each other, it is a deep expression of love. And as hard as it is, it bears witness to the fact that we are standing together heart to heart in this moment.

We also need to remember that Paul mentions they were separated for a “short time.” Whether we’re separated for a few weeks or a few months, it is a short time. At Marble, we have a rich history of loving relationships upon which we can draw to sustain us, and we have an incredible future in which we’ll do amazing things—and it will be face to face. But for now, let us continue to be together, heart to heart, knowing there is nothing that can prevent the joining of our hearts in a time like this.

With Much Love for You All,

Dr. Michael Bos

A WORD FROM OUR EXECUTIVE MINISTER

FAITH IN THE MIDST OF FEAR

By Rev. J. Elise Brown, Ph.D.

“But now thus says the LORD, the One who created you, O Jacob, who formed you, O Israel: Do not fear, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name, you are mine. When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and through the rivers, they shall not overwhelm you; when you walk through fire you shall not be burned, and the flame shall not consume you.”

— Isaiah 43:1-2 (NRSV)

As I write this, the world has been gripped by an invisible threat called COVID-19 or Coronavirus. I say “invisible” because a person doesn’t know they are a carrier until certain symptoms cause them to get a test to confirm or calm their fears. I also say “invisible” because anyone can be carrying the virus unknowingly and, also unknowingly, pass it along to others. Riding the subway or bus, we might look around and wonder, “Is anyone on this train a carrier?” Or, “the woman behind me is coughing; should I move away from her? What if she is a carrier of COVID-19?” Suspicions. Questions. Fears.

It is hard to know what to do, exactly, in a time like this. At Marble we made the difficult decision to move from in-person worship gatherings to worship only by livestream starting March 15. It was a very difficult decision because we believe so strongly in the power of community, the power of being together in person, loving and caring for each other. When a person comes to Marble, they are greeted with warm smiles, handshakes and hugs, people with full and caring hearts. How can we remove the in-person love and care we believe in so strongly?

We did this to do our part in slowing the spread of the virus. We wanted to affirm the importance of listening to the voice of people in the medical establishment who were calling on all large institutions to help by reducing large, in-person gatherings where people sit close to each other. Because we are uniquely able to offer quality worship services through livestream, we made the decision to do so even before the state’s “shelter in place” order.

During these days I have been thinking of the many times in scriptures when people were gripped by fear of both invisible and visible threats. I have been pondering all of the times people in scripture looked around at what was going on and did not know what to do — the Israelites as they wandered through the wilderness and wondered if God was still with them; Noah and his family stuck in an ark amidst a flood wondering if the land would ever be dry again; the disciples surrounded by fear and uncertainty as Jesus, their strong and beloved leader, walked the road to a cross and crucifixion; the list goes on.

In each of these scenarios, and so many more, fearful people found a way to hold fast to faith in the midst of fear and uncertainty. They found a way to draw from a deep well of faith they might not have even known was within them.

Now is a time to not lose heart but see that we are moving toward resurrection hope and life at Easter. Lenten journeys can be hard to travel. Places of shadows might threaten to overcome us. But, remember the words of Isaiah: When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and through the rivers, they shall not overwhelm you. When you walk through fire you shall not be burned, and the flame shall not consume you.

Hold fast to your faith, dear Marble Family. We are people of hope and life. We will get through this together.

OUR EASTER LILY TRADITION

During this time of uncertainty, registration for the Easter Lilies has been suspended. At some point in the near future, we are still planning to have a list in memory and honor of your loved ones, and to use these donations for the Marble Care Fund that is being set up to help those in the Marble Community affected by the Coronavirus crisis (please see page 9). For questions about the list of names, please contact Clay Hale (CHale@MarbleChurch.org or 212-686-2770, ext. 252).

Remember to visit MarbleWomen.com for daily Lenten inspirations through April 9.

BLESSING – THE MARBLE EASTER OFFERING
By Tena Bos
To whom much is given, much will be required.
– Luke 12:48

At the Women’s retreat this year we discussed the word “blessed.” It made some of us uncomfortable to say we were blessed, because what does that mean to those that don’t have as much as we do? Are they not blessed?

Or are we all blessed in different ways? Maybe that’s a question we cannot answer, or a question we will wrestle with. Maybe we need to look at the word differently. I believe all of our blessings are meant to be shared. If we change the words in Luke 12:48 just a bit, it will read, “To one who has been greatly blessed, you will be required to share those blessings.”

That is what our Easter Offering at Marble is all about. Sharing our blessings. Each of us has something to share to brighten the life of another. In this endeavor though, we are asking that we share our monetary blessings. Whether we share one dollar, a hundred dollars, or thousands of dollars, we are called to help those around us.

I would like to ask you to pray along with me to consider what you are able to contribute this year to bless another’s life. Each penny we can offer will help to brighten the life of someone in our community.

My prayers are for each of us to stay healthy right now. I very much look forward to walking through the doors of Marble again and seeing each one of you in person. What a glorious day that will be! Until then, I hope to “see” you online.

Help Make a Positive Impact
Our goal this year is to raise $230,000, 100% of which will be granted to nonprofits making a positive difference in the lives of many. Here are the ways in which you can give:

• Give online: MarbleChurch.org/give/easter-offering
• Click the blue Easter Offering button below streaming window at MarbleChurch.org.
• Text GIVEMCC Easter and any amount to 73256
• Call Clay Hale, 212-686-2770, ext. 252

We thank you the Marble Community for your ongoing support. We are praying for all of you and ask that you pray for us as well, as we navigate these challenging times. Together, we will continue to live in hope as we look forward to being on the other side of COVID-19. In the meantime, let us continue to live into Jesus’ call to heed a command to love one another as he has loved us (John 13:34).

For more information, contact Rev. Susanah Wade (SWade@MarbleChurch.org).

BLESSED COMMUNITY
LIFE AT MARBLE DURING THE CORONAVIRUS/COVID-19 CRISIS

It’s really no surprise, yet the indomitable spirit of Marble’s members and staff has shone brightly during the pandemic. We were blessed to have a strong foundation of our long-time streaming ministry to build on to help us continue to connect as a community.

On the next pages you’ll find a collage of photos representing just some of what’s gone on in front and behind the computer screens, including: the MarbleVision Control Room moved to Christina’s and Nick & Siobhan’s homes; Christina’s girls helping edit video and enjoying Brittany’s Children’s Message; Marble’s “switchboard” moved to Gary and Stuart’s apartment; the facilities crew steam to disinfect after cleaning; Staff and Worship Meetings via Broadview Chat; Drs. Bos and Brown leading online Worship; Ken and Rashad performing from their homes; and the Marble Family participating in the streaming chat.

A HUGE THANK YOU TO OUR AMAZING FACILITIES CREW!

John, Virgilio, Joshua, Jerry, Luis, Yvon, Andres, Javaris, Rick — You work hard and with such heart at all times. During this crisis you went above and beyond to make sure the Marble Community will be safe when we return to the building. Bless you!

STAY TUNED – MARBLE CARE FUND

Currently we don’t have the power of touch or even face-to-face relationships to encourage each other. Yet, we have not lost the power of caring. It is our intent to create a Marble Care Fund to help those within our Marble Family affected by the aftermath of COVID-19. Stay tuned for details.

There Is a Great Need for Kidney Donors for Two People from Our Community, Ted Gregory and member Diane DiResta’s husband, Ed. We encourage you to consider this as a way to provide life-saving help for them. Thank you! All inquiries are kept confidential and without obligation. To learn more about kidney donation:

- for Ed: please email R23881@renewal.org (Renewal’s website: www.renewal.org).

VIRTUAL VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

There are many organizations that need “virtual” volunteers right now, including two with long histories with the Marble Community: the Episcopal Actors Guild which provides emergency aid and support to professional performers of all faiths, and Housing Plus which helps formerly incarcerated mothers and homeless female veterans and their children. For information on how you may be able to help, please visit MarbleChurch.org/give/volunteer-with-marble/#currentopportunities.

WEST SIDE CAMPAIGN AGAINST HUNGER

Marble is part of a consortium of churches and synagogues that support West Side Campaign Against Hunger (WSCAH). Located in upper Manhattan, WSCAH is a customer choice, supermarket style food pantry and social services provider. With its values of Dignity, Community, Choice, WSCAH has been providing the healthiest food possible to a community of 22,000 customers. With the closure of many businesses, the number of New Yorkers who need access to healthy food and supportive services such as Food Stamps and Health Insurance will increase exponentially over the coming weeks. WSCAH is committed to staying open during the Coronavirus crisis and serving our customers who desperately need our help. If you’d like to help support this ministry, please visit www.wscah.org/donate/.

Action Volunteers - Ways You Can Serve

Stay tuned for return dates of these regular outreach opportunities. For more ideas and referrals to organizations in need of volunteers, please contact Tom Schneider (TSchneider@MarbleChurch.org).

Prayer Shawl Ministry – Knit/crochet shawls for the homebound. Generally meets two Mondays each month, 4:30-5:30pm.

Ecclesia Ministry – Help with this worshipping congregation for the homeless in Madison Square Park. Usually on the second Sunday of the month, 10:00-10:30am and 2:00pm.

Habitat for Humanity Build – Help work on a home for a low-income family. No experience necessary. Usually one Saturday each month.

Bowery Mission – Serve dinner to the homeless one Saturday per month.

Marble Fights Hunger – When the Marble building reopens, please support our continuous food drive by donating nutritious, canned/bottled items only for Icahn House East (a temporary shelter for homeless mothers).
Reflections from the Editor
By Karla Fritsch

This was lovingly created in the hope that you will be blessed—looking at things in a new way, glimpsing details previously unseen, catching visions of beauty—all helping you believe in POSSIBILITIES.

That’s the message I put on the back of my photo cards. As a photographer, I pride myself in noticing beautiful and interesting details that others may miss. Yet, with COVID-19, and all its negative ripples, I wondered if I’d be able to recognize some of the beautiful experiences and blessings in the midst of the fear and tragedy of this pandemic.

Most nights on the news they’ve included inspiring stories of people giving concerts from their balconies, teachers having car parades to cheer on their students, doctors and nurses leaving their families to help the sick no matter what the cost. Yet at times I’ve felt like we’re all living in The Twilight Zone and there’s nothing inspiring about that. I’ve actually said out loud, alone in my tiny apartment, “Is this really happening?” “Am I really living through this?”

Besides that, for a while I thought I was handling this well. I’m an introvert and enjoy being at home, so the transition to sheltering in place wasn’t too bad. Then on Sunday, March 29, I experienced “Clap Because We Care” for the first time in my neighborhood. I was touched when I’d seen it on the news, yet was surprised by my emotional response when out of my own window I heard people clapping and cheering for the medical personnel. The waves of tears were released—and kept coming. It was a gift to feel. I’d been more numb than I’d realized. Now my favorite time of day is 7:00 pm. I have a mix of feelings while I clap or ring the Maine harbor bell hanging in my window—I smile with happiness for the way it draws the unseen, unknown neighbors closer to me; I have overflowing gratitude for the doctors, nurses, first responders and other essential workers that are on the frontlines; I get choked up and tears flow from the sadness of the tremendous suffering in the world...

During those three minutes, I see the beautiful gift in every emotion I’m feeling.

Appreciating connection in a new way is something I know a lot of us have experienced. Thank God for technology that can help provide comfort because I can see my co-workers’ faces on my computer or FaceTime with a friend. I also appreciate how I feel the presence of my Marble Family when I participate in the live stream chat during Worship. I’m a regular live streamer, yet I had never participated in the chat before. It warms my heart each Sunday when I see the “hellos” and the things people share.

One of the personal blessings for me is of the timing of this. In January I got a FitBit and as part of my Lenten journey, I decided to increase my steps. Thankfully I had momentum going and have been able to keep stepping which has blessed me physically and emotionally during this strange and challenging time.

I’ve been stretched to shift my awareness even in the smallest ways. While finishing the bulletin for March 15, all of a sudden the line “Please silence all electronic devices” jumped off the page. This wasn’t business as usual.

Work has kept me busy, yet I still hope to use this mandated “PAUSE” to reflect more, shift at least a bit of my personal “business as usual” in a more positive direction, and ask myself some questions:

What do I want to learn through this experience?
Whatever the new normal will be for the city, the country, the world—what new normal will I choose for myself?
Will I still believe in possibilities?
What do I want to discover about myself and others when we take the face masks off?
CYF CORNER

YOUTH SERVICE TRIP MEMORIES

On February 15, 2020, nine Marble youth embarked on a journey to St. Thomas for a week of service. Our youth and chaperones were hosted by our sister church, St. Thomas Reformed Church, and they served for 32 hours at My Brother’s Workshop, The Long Path Community After School Program, and The Humane Society of St. Thomas.

Marble, thank you for all of your prayers and support! We are looking forward to serving again soon!

Youth: Amanda Crewy, Juan Figueroa, Felicia Jennings-Brown, Harry McSween, Walker McSween, Benjamin Niewood, Ella Niewood, Analicia Wright.

Chaperones: Rev. Brittany Hanlin, Jessica Scovel, Chris Vega.

Families – for online CYF opportunities, please see page 5.
MARBLE MUSIC NEXT DOOR

Please plan to join us when we can return to the Marble Loft for this evening of music that will enliven your spirit featuring extraordinary emerging artists from The Marble Choir and other talent from New York City. Hosted by Music Director Kenneth Dake. We’ll let you know when the date is set.

GOSPEL AROUND THE WORLD

From Broadway, to Brazil, to the Caribbean, artists of various genres have fused the languages, sounds, and musical styles of their own regions with gospel music. The Marble Community Gospel Choir, directed by Rashad McPherson, looks forward to when they’ll be able to return to the Sanctuary for this concert that will honor Gospel Music's breadth and impact around the world. In addition to multilingual musical guests, the concert will also feature a tribute to composer and gospel music artist Andrae Crouch. Stay tuned to MarbleChurch.org for date and ticket information.
